Abstract

A method is proposed for determining the effectiveness and tolerance of a xenogenic substance administered to an organism.